

Marquette-Alger RESA Transition Program Studio "T"

What Is Studio "T" ?

Studio "T", where the "T" stands for Transition, is a creative work space where MARESA Transition students build up their work readiness skills, communication skills, and their ability to work on a team with peers as well as work independently to the best of their ability.

Students have the opportunity in Studio "T" to create handmade products that are available within our community at local businesses and organizations on a donation basis. Proceeds from these products go back into the Studio "T" space as well as towards student programming and activities.
